Butts Out

United Receptacle's new Smokers' Pole provides a simple and neat solution to control smokers' waste. The clean lines of this modern design complement many of today's exterior decors, while occupying very little space. The easy-to-empty design detaches at the mid-point using a quick-release push-button, so minimum bending is required for maintenance. The modern design is constructed from fire-safe aluminum and features weather-resistant powder-coated finishes in black or silver metallic.
