Rock River in Rockford, IL. reaches second-highest level since 1904, with massive flooding.

Our Rock River Valley flooding

ROCKFORD, Illinois — The SPORTSCORE Complex - Monday, 6/16/2008

The Rock River has reached historic flood levels, the city of Rockford announced this morning. Film footage has also been shown on CNN this week as well.

As a result, due to flooding of the Sportscore Complex in Rockford, the highest water level in 104 years, they had to cancel the NAFA 14 and Under Nationals, and the Tournament was being moved to Crown Point, Indiana, said Tournament Director, Bob Papich.

We wish them well in the future and hope this fabulous complex can be restored to it's former world class luster, and a Major National Sports Complex !
